

Earth Maker wondered how else he could help People. "They have to walk a long way looking for the Buffalo herds. It is hard for the children and old people. I will give them a four-legged who will carry Men and Women on his back. People will feel proud to ride him! I will make him like the sky: gentle and sometimes fierce. He will have lightning in his legs and thunder in his hooves; his mane and tail will be like clouds around him, his eyes bright stars. When People hunt the Buffaloes he will carry them like the wind right among the herds."

And so Earth Maker, the Creator, gave People herds of magnificent Horses of every color.
