

There he found the boars, and he drove them off to a faraway land so that they would not return to harm the farms. Confident that he had finished his mission for the king, Bijan set off for home.

